Dynamic Solutions. Endless Possibilities.

Honeywell Users Group Americas Symposium

Keep your company on the forefront of today's best practices and tomorrow's developments in process control by attending the Honeywell Users Group Symposium. Featuring hands-on demonstrations of the latest technology, one-to-one interaction with products experts, and group discussion with other Honeywell users, this robust technical conference provides invaluable education and insight that can positively impact your bottom line.

Whether you have a need to harness the capabilities of legacy assets, optimize operations through migration or integration with advanced applications, or plan to expand production capabilities, Honeywell Users Group provides an unsurpassed forum for you to gain the knowledge and tools to meet your objectives.

Training Extends the Benefits

We have expanded the program to include two full days of training opportunities—all included in your registration. You choose the courses that best align to your needs and strengthen skills that bring greater return.

Share Your Solutions with Others

Customer presentations are a key part of Users Group. We are seeking speakers who are willing to share experiences—a case history, unique application, project implementation or technical achievement. If you are selected to present, your registration fee is waived. And we make it easy for you, because Honeywell offers resources to develop your materials, at no cost to you.
