

Squeeze More Out of Your Operations Technical Seminar 2009

Challenging times require solutions that squeeze more out of your operation.

Get a fresh perspective on bottom-line benefits and explore efficiency possibilities, while improving overall plant safety.

You will have the opportunity to learn more about how Honeywell helps process industries survive - in a changing business environment, a changing world economy, changing regulations, changing work practices, changing workforce demographics and changing technology.

We aim to achieve this through a program that will provide delegates knowledge on Honeywell's vision, technology roadmaps and technical demonstrations.

Who should attend:

Whether you are considering Honeywell solutions and want to learn more about our breadth and depth of products and services or are a current user who have select Honeywell technologies or a full scale implementation, this event will provide you with a great opportunity to learn and network with process automation experts.

Dates:

28 & 29 July 2009

Venue:

Honeywell
679 Victoria Street
Abbotsford VIC
